

Our collective vision of this new world.

This new world.

Future world.

Yeah.

Yeah, that's a good idea.

Like, we can be from the same time.

Yeah, it would make more sense I feel like...

Same time, and same like, space, but it was just... we're all talking about something different.

Yeah.

Yeah, how do we do that?

So, like...

What if we all have to have our own visions, and then we would share it and then see what corresponded to each other?

O.K., yeah.

Yeah.

But then we don't want you to all just repeat the same thing.

No, but...

O.K., so once you do your own vision, you'll see what each other has in common.

Yeah.

It'll be like: so we all want this to happen. And then that will be our main goal, our main focus.

Okay.

But then everybody else will have different like, you know, missions and things like...

And then you're like... make sure, like future you, touches on this point because I'm gonna touch on this point ... and then there's like ... and then it'll be expressed in different ways but you're still kind of touching on similar points. Is that what you mean?

We'll just be introduced as like a group that made it to the future together, you know? And then we all had different visions...

Like a reunion-ish.

Yeah, like, we were in a group.

This is what we do together...

And we were in a group, and after in the future, we had a reunion. And from there, we talk about our point of views. By the end of the day, we have like a point in common. That's what she's trying to say.

Okay, so say, say I'm filming you, is it just you on camera?

Yeah.

Like what we did...

Present "you"?

Like what we did before... Like the... you know, the camera in the middle after it was spinning?

Yeah.

After we could... like it's a... and you start that, as the present... And from there, in the future...

Do it again? In the AI?

Yeah. We do it again.

Oh so, it's...

We look, we look different.

I see. So the present interviews, it's single, single, single, single. And then the future interview, it's all you sitting in that...

In the AI.

Exactly.

All together.

Exactly.

And then are you having more of a discussion? Oh, yeah you're... Yeah, I like that. Because then you're feeding off each other.

Yeah.

And you're depicting this new world.

And then it's just a general image of what it is... what the world is like.

Okay, I like it.

From what we made it to be, I guess.

So then maybe this week you can start thinking about: in the solo 'present' interview... present 'you' interview...

Well, what's going on... What defines your present now? Because that is what you'll be kind of commenting on, right... in the future interview?

Sure.

Yeah?

Hmm, Hmm.

Does that make sense?